

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTION

A. Conclusion

From the researcher drew several inferences to answer the formulation as indicated in chapter 1 in the research problem. There are two research problems for this research. That is what are students' perceptions of using GT in writing skill, and what are the advantages or disadvantages of using GT in writing skill. In this case, the researcher knows that the fourth semester students of IKIP PGRI Pontianak in 2021/2022, the students' perception have a good perception of the use of google translate in writing skills. From the results of the interviews, the students felt very helpful with google translate, because google translate really helped them in translating a sentence/word that they didn't know the meaning of. Besides that, Google Translate can also add new vocabulary knowledge that they rarely encounter or use. Google translate provides convenience in pronunciation, to help students who have difficulty pronouncing words or sentences in English.

From the results of these data, researchers found advantages and disadvantages in using google translate, the advantages google translate namely google translate it is easy to use, does not require a long time to translate, can be used anytime and anywhere, can be used via links, and most importantly google translate does not pay. In addition to the advantages of google translate, it also has disadvantages namely such as being less accurate in translating, causing laziness and dependence, and also having to be connected to the internet if you want to use it.

B. Suggestion

After the research is finished, the researcher wants to give suggestions to lecturers and students. In this modern era, we are given the convenience of using translator applications, including google translate. In this study, researchers expect students who use google translate to be wiser in using the application, not only the Google Translate application but other applications must be wiser in using it.

Google translate is not only used to complete your assignments but also used to study more carefully and understand the meaning of the translation and add correct vocabulary, pronunciation, and spelling. For lecturers, the researcher would like to suggest that they consider that google translate has advantages that can help students improve their vocabulary, and help their pronunciation, and spelling to be better. Therefore, if the lecturer gives permission to students to use google translate in class. But lecturers should prevent students from playing on their cell phones. Researchers are expected to provide benefits for further research as a reference for conducting further research on similar research.

