

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION AND SUGGESTUONS

A. Conclusion

Based on research findings and discussions supported by complete data, teaching with the implementation of Translated traditional songs has a good effect on teaching English. This matter is proven can effectively ensure students' learning success. Besides that, to determine the extent of students' understanding, this study also uses worksheets so that the English village has a good impact on English skills based on the availability of learning resources. In this study, there is a language on how a tutor can use the translation of traditional songs as a learning media that can improve speaking, writing, and vocabulary knowledge.

As a result, students' enthusiasm for learning English increases, as does their vocabulary knowledge. Translated traditional songs play an important role in helping learners practice English, such as practicing speaking and increasing vocabulary knowledge relevant to everyday life. It can be concluded that using translated traditional songs in English lessons is an innovation that can help students during the learning process because it provides a pleasant atmosphere for them to learn English students are invited to remember that learning resources can come from anywhere, even from traditional songs, without forgetting the customs and culture in traditional songs.

B. Suggestions

Based on the research results and conclusions presented, the next researcher submits suggestions that may benefit the parties concerned for the results of this research. The suggestions that can be submitted are as follows:

1. For Village Head

The English Village Program has been implemented so that it can be continued in the future. In addition, the need for cooperation between the village and the village head to make this program run continuously in the future. Because with the English village program, children can learn English for free and prepare their basic English knowledge to continue their education at a higher level.

2. For Students

Students are expected to follow the village program activities regularly once a week and follow the learning process well, namely by paying attention to explanations, taking notes if they don't know, and reviewing.

3. Future Research

The results of this study are expected to be a reference for research next in the same field.